Let’s talk business: Mine action, the private sector and SDGs

Karolina Mzyk Callias, UNDP Private Sector and Foundations

15 February 2018, Palais des Nations, Geneva
Estimated average annual philanthropic giving for development is $7.8 billion. Most foundations are not linked with SDGs.

There is a huge opportunity for business & SDGs. Lack of incentives and tools.

Achieving the SDGs could unlock $12 trillion a year in business value across four economic systems alone by 2030.

- Food and agriculture: US$2.3 trillion
- Cities and urban mobility: US$3.7 trillion
- Energy and materials: US$4.3 trillion
- Health and well-being: US$1.8 trillion

Creating more than 380 million jobs

Who We Are

The SDG Philanthropy Platform is a global and national facilitator that helps optimize resources and efforts to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by enabling effective collaboration with the broader ecosystem.

The Platform is unique in its deep understanding of the philanthropy and government sectors, access to rich data, and ability to draw on robust networks to provide the tools, partnerships and guidance needed to co-create and scale promising innovations.

We seek to:

- EDUCATE. We expand awareness and knowledge of the SDGs and how to leverage them.
- CONNECT. We increase engagement between stakeholders to help them increase their impact and advance the SDGs.
- CATALYZE. We facilitate new types of collaborations and investment in promising, transformative solutions between philanthropy, business, investors, the UN, government, and broader civil society.

“Leaving No One Behind” – mine action and SDGs. Few ideas for collaboration with business and philanthropy.

• Create a dedicated entry point for business & philanthropy within the government coordinating structures.
• Engage with business networks, such as Connecting Business Initiative
• Support social innovations for mine actions:
  • Crowdfunding.
  • Use innovation challenge to raise visibility on innovative solutions for mine action.
